More than a seminar

The Working Conference is not a traditional training. It is a dynamic, immersive experience where participants from around the world come together to explore, experiment and grow — professionally and personally.

Through a carefully designed mix of small groups, larger group processes and plenary sessions, you will engage in a rich learning environment that goes far beyond traditional formats.

Each setting offers a different perspective, allowing your understanding to deepen organically.

Step into the Working Conference of Logosynthesis where we inspire you to think outside the box.

This is a journey — one that includes trial & error, discovery, and transformation.

What to Expect

This conference invites you to move beyond what you already know about Logosynthesis.

Together, we create a space where we can explore the principle of time, task and territory.

- curiosity is highly valued
- exploration replaces fixed frameworks
- personal experience becomes the teacher

You will work on your patterns, experiences, fantasies, and beliefs, and reconnect with your Essence.

Through this process, you may:

- gain new insights into your personal and professional path
- expand your awareness of inner and outer realities
- take a meaningful step in your development

International Learning Space

The conference is held in English and offers a supportive multilingual environment.

For non-native speakers, this gives you the opportunity to brush up and deepen your English. You will see that you will understand more than you think. We will guide you and help you understand. Other participants will be there to translate.

Participants assist each other with translation, creating a truly collaborative and inclusive atmosphere.

Working groups will be facilitated in:

- English
- German
- French
